Learning Lupus... Your Heart, Medicine and Life

All of our education programs include a questionnaire of subjects of interest to be discussed in the future. We depend on your request for information to provide programs of importance to you.

Your need for discussion on the subjects of your heart, medicine, and living life with lupus will be discussed as requested at this program. Please let us know that we are meeting your needs by attending.

Our first speaker will discuss the always popular subject of lupus medications. He was well received as an excellent speaker at a previous program and we are so fortunate to have his expertise for a medication review and update.

The effects of lupus on the heart will be explored by our second speaker. She is anxious to share her knowledge of lupus and the heart and its link to Vitamin D.

Our afternoon speaker will provide information and discuss the difficulties in dealing with a chronic illness from the patient, caregiver, family and friend standpoint.

Also, we will have sample books from our literature list available for you to preview and /or purchase (at our discount cost) if you want to have reading materials to take home with you.

Please bring all of your lupus questions to this seminar. These speakers have agreed to answer them and help all to learn about lupus.
